

Camilo Serna

Vice President
Corporate Strategy, DTE Energy

Camilo Serna is vice president of corporate strategy for DTE Energy (NYSE: DTE), a Detroit-based diversified energy company involved in the development and management of energy-related businesses and services nationwide. Its operating units include an electric utility serving 2.2 million customers in Southeastern Michigan and a natural gas utility serving 1.3 million customers in Michigan. The DTE Energy portfolio includes non-utility energy businesses focused on power and industrial projects, natural gas pipelines, gathering and storage, and energy marketing and trading. As one of Michigan's leading corporate citizens, DTE Energy is a force for growth and prosperity in the 450 Michigan communities it serves in a variety of ways, including philanthropy, volunteerism and economic progress.

In his role, Serna develops and implements strategic initiatives including the execution of the annual strategic planning process. He also leads efforts to understand market, technology, customer and policy trends to identify strategic implications. Finally, he manages DTE's key benchmarking programs and the development of long-term commodity price scenarios.

Prior to joining DTE in August 2016, Serna was vice president for strategic planning and policy for Eversource Energy, New England's largest utility company, where he was responsible for the identification of growth opportunities, development of strategic plans and framing of key energy policy positions. Additionally, Serna served as President of Eversource's unregulated operations, where he led several asset sale transactions.

Prior to his time at Eversource, Serna was a leader in Oliver Wyman's Energy & Utilities management consulting practice, assisting utility and energy companies in Europe, Latin America and North America with a wide array of strategic and operational challenges.

Serna holds an industrial engineering degree from Universidad de Los Andes in Bogotá, Colombia, and an MBA from the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University.
